

Two young and dynamic faculties.
One programme.
Endless opportunities.

The Faculty of Law and the Faculty of Business Administration and Economics of the Heinrich Heine University invite students to spend a semester or year in Düsseldorf studying economics and law in English.

The Legal and Economic Studies Programme allows students to create an individualised study abroad experience from the course offerings of both faculties, including classes specifically tailored to our international guests.

Students will benefit from comparatively small class sizes and opportunities for practical learning both in the classroom and beyond thanks to Düsseldorf's many international companies and law firms.

Legal and Economic Studies Programme

Heinrich Heine University Düsseldorf

Düsseldorf, Germany

Düsseldorf is the state capital of North Rhine Westphalia (NRW), one of Germany's largest cities, and a significant international business hub. Top rankings in various studies on the quality of life offer tangible proof: Düsseldorf provides a particularly pleasant environment – with both Rhenish warmth and urban opportunities for leisure.

The city is home to numerous museums, art galleries, theatres, and sports teams. Students also enjoy world-class shopping on the Königsallee and catching up with friends in the Altstadt (Old Town).

Faculty of Business Administration and Economics

The Faculty's focus is on sharing and discussing current issues in business and economics. This best prepares students for a future career in enterprises, national and international organisations and government agencies as well as for further education and research.

Faculty of Law

The Faculty of Law's focus is on research and teaching in the areas of business law and international law. The Faculty's well-deserved academic reputation, modern library and emphasis on bringing legal practice into the classroom make it one of the most popular places to study law in Germany.
